WITH PROPERTY TO SUPPORT THE FIRST.

A woman arrested in Brooklyn yesterday afterpoon is alieged to have supported herself by marrying many husbands. Under the name of Teresa Remenschneider, she was attested for bigamy and grand harceny, together with her alleged husband John Kemenschneider, at No. 62 Columbia place. The warrant for her arrest was issued by a justice of Newark, N. J., upon the complaint of August. Bevensen, aga fifty, a fresco painter of Newark. It set forth that the complamant became acquainted with Miss Teresa Austroach last August. She represented that she had been employed as a "salesday" in New-York, and had boarded at the house of a shoemaker named Remenschneider, No. 202 Eldridge-st. After a brief acquaintance they were married. On October 11, she went away, leaving no clew behind her, and she took with her all of Bevensee's personal property, coaristing of gold watches, rings, and other jewerly and clothing, with $768. WITH PROPERTY TO SUPPORT THE FIRST,

Bevensee went to No. 202 Eldridge st., and was with $708.

Bevensee went to No. 202 Eldridge-st., and was told by Mr. Remenschneider that the woman he was in search of had married his son, John Remenschneider. Detober 30, 1877, and had since lived with him. In August she stated that an aunt had disd in Newark, and she was to have her effects. She went to Newark with a numk lent to her by Remenschneider, and after a stay of a tew weeks returned with it filled with personal property, which she said had been her aunds. Soon afterward she and her lustsand had gone to live elsewhere, and she rather-in-law did not know where they were. The certificate of their marriage by the Rev. F. J. Schneider was found filed with the Registar of Vital Statistics.

Bevensee then engaged a detective to find her, and after seven weeks she was discovered in Brocklyn. Bevensee was summoned from Newark, and in company with the detective went yesterday to ber home. When they entered the house she took a beerbottle, in which was a colorless fluid, from the mantet, and attempted to swallow the contents. In this she was prevented by Detective Frsher, who comptied the bottle, finding oxalic acid crystals in the boston. Bevensee positively identified her as the woman he married and lived with for six weeks. Portions of the stolen property, and twenty-four pawn tickets were found in the house. Young Remenschneider, who is only twenty-two years old, was also arrested. He is charged with assisting his wife to take the property from Bevensee's house. They took the trunk to the railroad depot in the night.

The prisoners were taken to the Police Central Office. Mrs. Remenschneider was expensively dressed, but she is very plain. Detective Fisher chains to have learned that the woman has been married no less than five times. The names of her other husbands are said to be Temple, Anerbaeh, and Grau. Her maiden name was Teresa Beisel, and she was born in Bavaria.

A YOUNG WOMAN, MISSING FOR TWO WEEKS, AMENT-AN ARREST FOR ABDUCTION.

AGENT—AN ABREST FOR ABJUCTION.

Miss Rosa G. Heilpern, a pretty blonde seventeen years of age, disappeared from the home of her parents in East Seventy-third-st, on November 15. Her absence caused great anxiety to her relatives, who at once began a search for her. After several days the police were informed, and a general alarm giving a description of the missing girl was sent out from Police Headquarters, and Central Office detectives were detailed on the case. No clew to Miss Heilpern was found, however. Saturday afternoon Mrs. A. Goldschadt, the wife of Coroner Ellinger's deputy, and the sister of Miss Heilpern, while walking in Fifth-ave., near Thurty-seventh-st., came face to face with the missing girl, who was very pale and looked as it she were about to fail. The sister ran to her, and after expressing aer delight at finding her, wanted to take her to her parents house. Rosa refused to go there, but asked Mrs. Goldschmidt to accompany her to the Grand Union Hotel, where she said she was staying. On arriving at the hotel they were shown to room No. 27, on the third floor. Upon being closely questioned, the girl teld the story of her disappearance. Several months ago she made the acquaintance of Charles D. Lane, a good-looking young man with a large brown monstache. Lane is employed as ticket agent at the City Hall Station of the Third Avenne Elevated Railroad, and has rooms at No. 152 East Forty-seventh-st. His father is said to be wealthy, and to own much railroad stock. He paid the girl much attention, and won her affections.

on November 15 Lane induced Miss Heilpern to eave her home, and took her to the Grand Union Hotel, where they registered as Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Adams, and where they registered as Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Adams, and where they had since lived as man and wife. Mrs. Goldschmidt was much shocked at the recital, and begged her sister to return to her home, but she could not prevail upon her to do so. Mrs. Goldschmidt then went to her father's house and told him the circumstances of the case. Nathan Heilpern, the brother of Rosa, was sent to the hotel the following day, but did not see his sister. On Mondar the father applied to Justice Otterbourg, in the Yorkville Pohee Court, for a warrant for the arrest of Lane, whom he charged with abducting his daughter. The warrant was issued, and at meon yesterday Officer Kellerd, of the Yorkville Court Squad, arrested Lane, who was taken to the Justice's private examination room. At 3 p. na., on an order from Justice Otterbourg, Officer Kellerd took Miss Heilpern into custody, and escorted her to the Court, where were ber father and sister. Deputy Coroner Goldschmidt, and Coroner Effinger. The examination was conducted privately in the Justice's prom.

The end of the case was a marriage ceremony performed by Justice Otterbourg, in which the principals were Charles D. Lane and Miss Rosa G. Heilpern. A carriage was then driven up in front of the court-house, and the newly married couple described.

The sale of lottery tickets, or keeping a place for such sale, is deemed in the law a misdemeanor.

Part II. of the Court of General Sessions was crowded yesterday with persons interested in the trial of Enjah Alliger, on a charge of receiving certain bonds knowing them to have been stolen. Assistant District-Attorney Lyon continued his address to the jury, which had been begun on the previous day, and concluded it shortly after 1 o'clock, having spoken in all four hours. Recorder Smyth then went over the evidence, and explained the law governing the case to the jury in less than half an hour. The jury were out for an hour and a quarter, and when they came into court complete sidence prevailed. The prisiner, from a seat by the side of his counsel, scanned the faces of the jurymen closely, and was evidently very nervous. In answer to the usual question by the clerk of the Court, the foreman said the verdict of the jury was not guilty. A sudden outburst of applianse greeted ELIJAH ALLIGER ACQUITTED. not guilty. A sudden outburst of applause greeted the announcement, but it was quickly suppressed. Mr. Kintzing, one of the prisoner's counsel, asked the Court to allow the prisoner to be admitted to bail pending trial on the other indictments. The Recorder said he would remand the prisoner until this morning, in order to look into the papers. The jury were then discharged. After Alliger had been removed from the bar his self-control seemed to desert him, and he burst into tears. He was sent to the Tombs.

UNUSUAL ATTRACTIONS AT A FAIR. The Rev. W. R. Davis and an association of 150 ladies and gentlemen of the Madison Avenue Con-gregational Church, at Forty-fifth-st., have been engaged for several weeks in getting up a fair which will open to-night with addresses by Judgs John R. Brady and Channeey M. Depew. It is to be held in the large auditorium of the church, which has been completely floored over; and it is to con-tinue ten days. Eight booths, already handsomely able for the holiday season and for holiday gifts. There are to be also a restaurant, grocery store, art gallery, a Creedmoor, a magic bower or hall with leds gridemain and ventrologuist tricks, Punch and Judy show etc. A propagate season will be Judy show, etc. A premenade concert will be given each evening, and on Saturday at 3 o'clock. The most prominent article to be disposed of by vote among the churches of New-York and Brooklyn, is a baptismal font made by Hermann Herlt, of 1 iflany's. It is of bronze, in the design of a water bily, three and a half feet high, weighs 800 pounds, and is a subject at $3,000. and is valued at $3,000.

DEFEATING TICKET SPECULATORS.

DEFEATING TICKET SPECULATORS.

Henry E. Abbey's business manager, W. W. Tillotson, has been engaged in a contest with ticket speculators. During the early part of Miss Morris's engagement at the Park Theatre no less than eight of these pests were upon the sidewalk every night. They crowded around people and pressed their tickets upon them in a very annoying manner. When the Bernhardt season opened they did the same thing. For a while, so great were the crowds around the front door, nothing could be done. Later in the season, when the rish at Booth's was not quite so great, and Miss Morris was only appearing at matinees at the Park, an active warfare against the speculators was begun. Two policemen were called into service at each house, and the tecket men were compelled to stand for exongh away from the entrance vice at each house, and the tecket men were compelled to stand for evengh away from the entrance to allow persons to enter without annovance. The consequence was that the public, finding it easy toobtain seats for the regular prices at the box effices, let the speculators severely alone. On Monday a lot of boys, evidently representing speculators, steed in the line at the box office window of Booth's Theatre. Mr. Tillotson compelled every one of them to fall out of the ranks and give place to those wine were buying seats for personal use. to those who were buying seats for personal use. Yesterday afternoon, before the curtain fell on the first act of "Alixe," at the Park, seats were offered by speculators for fifty cents less than the regular

IN THE INTEREST OF IMMIGRANTS.

At the meeting of the Emigration Commissioners yesterday, Commissioner Ulrich reported that the Fennsylvania Railroad Company was prepared to accept the proposition of the Commissioners that all immigrant railroad business should be conducted through heensed agents at Castle Garden, but the New-York Central and Eric companies evaded the question and declined to renew the agreement made in 1873. He stated that offices had been established for the sale of tickets, and a commission of 10 per cent was allowed to all bersons who brought immigrants to those offices. This did not benefit immigrants, who had to pay the full amount of faire. It occasioned great evils, as boarding-house keepers and runners were continually on the alert, and so long as this system was continued the efforts of the Commission to secure the immigrant from wrong and imposition would in part be defeated. Another evil was the "booking" of immigrants in foreign countries to some point in the interior of the United States.

ADVANCE IN THE PRICES OF SILKS. ADVANCE IN THE PRICES OF SILKS.

There has been within the last week a sudden rise in the prices of raw silk in the European markets. The advance has been from 25 to 50 cents a pound, and it is thought that it will reach a still higher figure. Importers and manufacturers in this city are inclined to consider the advance as a reaction against the low figures which have ruled for some months. It is thought possible that there was a speculative element in iff due to the induction of the investment of capital. A prominent silk manufacturer in Grand-st, expressed this view yesterday. The prices, he said, had reached so low a point that these engaged in silk-raising had complained for some time that they were not able to early on the industry with any profit. This he considered the real source of the movement, although speculators had doubtless given an impetus to it.

real source of the movement, although speculators had doubtless given an impetus to it.

I. M. Rosa, a broker in Greene-si, said that the advance on French and Italian silks was about 74 per cent a pound, and that on Japan silk from 7 to 10 per cent. It was a legitimate advance from almost unprecedented low prices. For thirty years they had only once before approached so low a figure; that was in 1848. The rise, he thought, would be permanent. Others in the trade look upon the movement as speculative, and predict that it will not centinue.

A THIEF DISGUISED AS A LORD.

A swindler, calling himself Lord Couriney, a nechew of Lord Durham, was arrested in this city yesterday. In September, 1879, he came to this country from Europe on the Wyoming. He toade the acquaintance of Mrs. Colonel Lloyd, of Philadelphia, who was a passenger and gained her confidence. As soon as this city was reached he disappeared, and with him a satchel containing some very valuable presents, which he had taken, as if in sport, from the hinds of Mrs. Lloyd, Last August a man who represented himself as Marcus La Pierre Beresford obtained $300 at the London Bank of Utah in Sait Lake City on a draft for £150 on Reman, Bonverie & Co. He received a draft for the balance—$470—on Martin, Blass & Co., the agents of the bank in New-York. This he eashed in Indiananolis. When it was discovered that the draft was forged, Detectives Padford and Dusenbery were charged with arresting the forger. Dissenders were charged with arresting the forger they searched for him in vaio, and had long give up the case as hopeless, when yesterday they me the man in Broadway, and took bim to police head narters. There, unexpectedly, his identity with Lord" Couriney was established by means of a shotograph. He is wanted also for other swindles

TRYING TO IDENTIFY HIM AS HEE FATHER.

The taking of testimony before Referee Underhill to decide whether the man claiming to be Theophilus Youngs is the husband of Mrs. Youngs was postponed indefinitely yesterday. After Youngs, the daughter of Mrs. Theophilus Youngs, was brought from Boston to this city to see if she could identify the man as her father. A private conference was arranged for that purpose at the house of one of the counsel. The referee was present, according to appointment, but the man was not on time. He appeared later in the day, after the referee had left the house, and the daughter and alleged father talked together for about an hour. She is only twelve years old and bad not seen her father for five or six years; therefore she could not identify him. They talked of matters that had occurred in the house when the family was harmonously united, and both seemed to recollect them. The alleged tather asked the girl if she remembered certain circumstances in connection with har illness when she was living at home, and she replied that she did. No testimony was taken before the referee. It was thought by the counsel opposed to Mrs. Youngs that her lawyer may discontinue the suit. TRYING TO IDENTIFY HIM AS HER FATHER.

Berdell, ex-president of the Eric Railway Company, was arrested at his office, No. 42 Broadway, yesterday afternoon, by Officers Field and O'Conner, of the District-Attorney's office, on a warrant charging him with perfury, an indictment having been found against him by the Grand Jury on Friday last. The arrest arises out of a suit in the Supreme Court, brought against Eerdeli by Eliza W. Parkhurst, for an accounting and to compel the defendant to surrender a bond for $80,000 and a mortgage to secure the same on some real estate at Goshen, Orange County, N. Y. yesterday that he had been relative in a case involving the sum of $500,000. In October, 1863, he said, a man named Antonio Grodesky, a narive of Poland, was found dead in a bouse in Third-ave. His fortune consisted of $800,000 in money and hends; but as none of his relatives could be found, the Public Administrator took possession of it and deposited it with a trust company in this city. Jacob Grepwadt, a merchant in Chicago, recently returned from Poland with a power of attorney from a bilind youth only twenty years af age, who, it is alleged, is the nephew and only living heir of Grodesky.

In The Teneure of October 5, 1863, was an article in reference to the sudden death of George Grodesky, a Polish exile, who lived in White-st. He was taken ill in an eating house in Leonard-st. Friday, October 2, 1863, and died after a short illness. In his trunk in an attic in White-st, were lound several bank books, some bonds and some bank stock. Grodesky was very eccentric and dressed like a beggar. His effects were turned over to the Public Administrator.

A large meeting of the creditors of N. B. Harword & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers of Minnerholts, who failed with habilities of over $900,000, was held yesterday at the store of Wnitman & Phelps, at Leonard st. and West Broadway. Two hundred and firty creditors were represented. W. W. McNair, the attorney for the suspended firm, stated that he was authorized by Harwood & Co. to make an offer to pay all the unsecured creditors 50 cents on the dollar, of which 12½ cents would be cash and the balance in notes. The Sheriff's sale of all the assets was fixed for Decem er 7, and he thought that if the sale took place the proceeds would be much less than the percentage offered by the firm in sett-ement. After a general discussion, Mr. McNair promised to adjourn the Sheriff's sale until December 14, and a commit-tee of five was appointed to make an investigation.

The complainant had refused previously to prefer charges, She disregarded a summons to appear issued by Justice Otterbourg, and Monday a warrant for her arrest was put into the hands of Officer O'Neil. He called at No. 161 West Twenty-seventh-st., the house of Mrs. Smith, in the evening, and was thrown down stairs by James Smith, the woman's husband. The officer arrested the couple and locked them up in the Thirty-fifth Street Police Station. Yesterday they were taken to Court, where Mr. Smith was held in bonds to keep the peace, and Mrs. Smith was put under bail to appear at the trial of Daggert and McCabe, who are held in $2,550 bail.

MR. ABBEY'S PLANS.

MR. ABBEY'S PLANS.

It was reported yesterday that Manager Abbey, of Booth's Theatre, intended to play "A Celebrated Case" only one week, after which Signor Tomasso Salvini, the Italian tragedian, would appear. A TRIBUNK reporter called at Booth's Theatre yesterday, and W. W. Hillotson, the business manager, said: "It is not definitely settled that Salvini will follow 'A Celebrated Case.' John Stetson, of Boston, is Salvini's manager, and he has laid out his route for the entire season. It is a difficult matter to alter a rente, when contracts have been made with different managers throughout the country; still, it is not impossible. It is not unlikely that, if Mr. Stetson can arrange his dates for other towns, still, it is not impossible. It is not the towns, Mr. Stetson can arrange his dates for other towns, Salvini will appear before long at Booth's Theatre."

THE RESULT OF JEALOUSY.

An ald woman named Young and ber daughter, of No. 59 Monroe-st., were objects of jealousy to Captain S. A. O'Keefe and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Tuthill's husband abandoned her and returned to the home of Mrs. Young, with whom he had previously bearded. Saturday night a daughter of Mrs. Young was attacked in the street by Mrs. Tuthill, who struck her on the face and body. The daughter's screams brought the mother down stairs, and she attempted to separate the struggling women. While thus engaged she was assailed by O'Keefe, who is alleged to have said that he intended to kill her. O'Keefe was arrested. Mrs. Young, it is thought, will recover.

the wholesale houses sell at retail at this season, and

ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE.

THE COLORED MURDERER'S DEFENCE. SEVERAL WITNESSES FOR THE PROSECUTION BEARD -CLAIMING THAT THE CRIME WAS COMMITTED IN A FIR OF PASSION-THE ACCUSED MAN'S STORY OF THE MURDER.

STORY OF THE MUEDER.

Augustus D. Leighton, the young mulatto on trial in the Court of Over and Terminer for the premeditied murder of Mrs. Mary Dean, sat in court yesterday calm and self-possessed. The only way in which he shows any aritation that he may feel is by the trembling of his hands. He seldom talks with his counsel, but once or twice he wrote little memoriandums and handed them to Mr. Quarles or Mr. Speneer. The interest manifested throughout the crowded court-room was very marked. All the winesses were colored persons except the physician. Surah Mickens was the first witness. She was at the house where Mrs. Dean lived on the night when she was killed. When Mrs. Mickens went in at the basement door Leighton was standing on the stoop. After talking with Mrs. Hill, who rented the house, Mrs. Mickens sat down in the basement and Mrs. Hill went up stairs. Mrs. Dean came through the hall and went out upon the walk. In a few minutes she came rushing back with her throat cut and the blood spurting out. She died a few minutes afterward.

with the greatest strention.

Miss Cornane Hopkins, a young colored woman, was the first witness for the defence. She said that she knew the prisoner and the members of the family where Mrs. Dean lived, as well as the dead woman herself. On the Sunday evening that Leighton killed Mrs. Dean the witness said that he came to visit her at her place of service, No. 116 East

Charles Morris, a colored waiter, of No. 24 Christopher-st., testified that he had known both Leighton and Mrs. Dean for four or five years. He saw Leighton for four or five consecutive mights before the homicide. On the Wednesday might before the

There was a siir of excit-ment in the court-room when the prisoner was called as a witness. He waiked deliberately to the stand, took the cath, and becan his testimony in an unconcerned manner. He toid the following story of the crime: "! have lived at No. 133 West 31st-st. I have known Mrs. Dean for more than a year. Since our first acquaintance we have always been good friends, and I used to see her frequently while I was working as various piaces as a wanter. On the Saturday night before the killing occurred I was at her house and went out with her and several others to eat some oysters. Previous to that I saw her nearly every day for several menths. We occupied the same apartments, which I rented from Mrs. Hill. I never, so far as I can recollect, said that I would like to hear what Manne's mother would say if I marked her for life. I put the razor in toy pocket to have it housed, but not with any purpose to use it in stricking or killing any person. When I strick Mrs. Dean I did not know what I was doing. I did not know that I had alled her, but when I saw her stagger into the basement I ran away. When I first went to the house I asked Mary Dean, as usual, to come out and see me. She refused. Then I went to the door. Hooked through the window and saw Mrs. Dean and asked her for my coat. She said it wasn't there, but if it was she would send it to me next day. I said I would wait if it took until doomaday. Freity seen as each of the shoulder, said: What in — do you want? I told her I wanted the coat She asked me why I talked so about her mother. I told her I hadn't. See then tried to strike me with the curling tongs she had in her hand, and in the heat of passion I drew out the razor and cut her throat. I spent that night in Hoboken, and the next day read the account of the murder in the papers at Newark. I then determined to surrender myself. I had no intention to kill Mary Dean; I loved her too much. I was a member of the Young Men's Christian Association."

The case will be closed to-day.
